Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 07 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A mostly dry but cold day. Scattered snow showers overnight.

Today:
An icy start to the day for many, with a chance of isolated snow showers. Becoming mainly dry with some sunny spells, although more light snow showers in the north and east are possible. Very cold with a wind chill. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tonight:
Some clear spells this evening, but some snow showers will move in from the east later. Some clearer spells returning overnight as showers become more isolated. Frost and ice. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Monday:
A mix of sunny spells and scattered, occasionally heavy, snow showers. Very cold with a wind chill and widespread frost early and late. Maximum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Some sunny spells Tuesday and Wednesday, but with a few localised wintry showers. Thursday drier and brighter as the cloud becomes more broken. Remaining very cold all three days.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.